ANGRY: Alan Moore is calling on the sale of Sekhemka to be abandoned

Moore says halt sell-off

Northampton author Alan Moore has called for next week's sale of the ancient Egyptian Sekhemka statue to be abandoned.

The statue is to be auctioned at Christies next Thursday where it is hoped to fetch in excess of £4 to £6 million.

It had been an exhibit at Northampton Museum donated by the Marquess of Northampton whose family brought it back from Egypt in the 1850s.

Alan said: "How can anybody across the country thinking of making a donation to a museum make the donation in the certain knowledge that some time in the future it might be sold off?"

25 skeletons found

HISTORY: Archeologists find 25 Roman skeletons buried at the historic site of Chester Farm near Wellingborough

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrencejohn@hpnorthants.co.uk

Twenty five skeletons have been discovered in graves at Chester Farm in Wellingborough.

This is not the site of a mass murder, but it is what archeologists found when they dug up a Roman cemetery at this historic location.

The site near Wellingborough which is owned by the county council, provides evidence of thousands of years of human activity.

It includes a Roman settlement, a medieval settlement including the deserted village of Chester-by-the-Water.

The site includes a complex of farm buildings, dating from the 17th to the 20th century.

Extensive ironstone extraction took place in the late 19th and early 20th centuries.

There is an archaeological dig at the site but this discovery was completely unexpected.

Lead archeologist, Ian Meadows said: "This is a small cemetery from the late Roman period which includes teenagers to mature adults."

"This is a C4th burial with the skeletons found laying on their backs in large pits surrounded by stones."

"The first thing to put into context is this is 1,000 years of history in one place."

"The skeletons have generally been well preserved."

The skeletons will be studied to determine if they are male or female, what was the cause of their death and what they can tell us about this period of history in Northamptonshire.

Grown up reaction to World Cup result doesn't feel better

We're taking it awfully well, all the sporting misery.

It's been a cruel summer so far for English sports fans but we promised ourselves, before the World Cup - before everything - that we wouldn't get carried away this time.

England's rugby union tour of New Zealand seems a long time ago. Three creditably close defeats and yes, this England team has come a very long way from the Six Nations pounding it took from Wales at the Millennium Stadium a couple of years back.

But they were bitterly disappointed not to have won at least one of the encounters even though away wins in New Zealand are like hens teeth.

And we understand that. The narrative for this England team is about the world cup next year. If they can go that close over there what difference will the home advantage make over here?

It's the same with the football.

I had a feeling we wouldn't get out of our group in the World Cup. I thought Italy and Uruguay (who I have been calling Nicaragua all the way through

I can't remember the last time I enjoyed an opening England game in a world cup so much, the tournament for no reason I can fathom - I even wrote it in a headline which sharp eyed web surfers may have spotted) would be too crafty for us and we wouldn't be able to do enough against Costa Rica.

On the plus side, I can't remember the last time I enjoyed an opening England world cup game as much as I enjoyed the Italy encounter.

Perhaps there is hope for the future but the game as it is in this country has been so far incapable of fielding a team that does not inflict huge disappointments on the English public.

I know there is a national campaign of being grown up about it going on, but it really matters when England lose at football in this country.

I've been rooting for America. What is that about?

And I'm not going to kick cricket while it's so down. Enough said there.

I must say, I'm not sure that being sensible about it makes it any less painful. At least the old way we had hope...

Drinks are on John Bishop...

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER
nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

Comedian John Bishop apologised to fans after showing up late to his show at Northampton's Royal & Derngate by spending almost £1,000 on free drinks.

The entertainer had tweeted before the show was due to start on Friday at 8pm that he was stuck in traffic, and would be 'about 30 minutes late'.

When he finally made his appearance on the stage for his Work in Progress gig 45 minutes later, he decided to buy a drink for every audience and staff member in attendance as an apology.

Bishop tweeted after the show: "Thank you to all who came to the Northampton gig. I apologise for my tardiness but hope you all enjoy the drink on me - cheers :-)"

Chief executive of Royal & Derngate, Martin

KIND GESTURE: Bishop made up for being 45 minutes late

Sutherland, told the Northants Herald & Post: "I was pleased to hear he made this generous gesture and I know our audiences really appreciated this and his show."

Fans tweeted their surprise after John offered everyone a drink, with one (@everybitsam) posting on Twitter:

"Cheers John Bishop, late comer, comedian and man with too much money clearly."

The bill for all 474 people came to just under £1,000.

HAIR CUT: Jude Blamire had her hair shaved off and donated it to the Little Princess Trust who make wigs for children who have lost their hair

Hair-raising for charity

A 13-year-old Northamptonshire school girl had her long blonde hair chopped off to help children with hair loss after chemotherapy or from alopecia.

Jude Blamire from Finedon had 32cm of her golden locks chopped off on Sunday by Lara Boot Hairdressing in Northampton.

The teenager who has not had a hair cut since she was 8-years-old was inspired having watched the film Fault in our Stars.

This film deals with Hazel and Gus are two extraordinary teenagers who share a disdain for the conventional, and a love which sweeps them on an heartwarming journey.

Their relationship is all the more miraculous, given that they met and fell in love at a cancer support group.

Jude has been raising sponsorship to have her long blonde hair cut off and by today, Monday, she had raised £870 with the hope she could hit the £1,000 by the end of the week.

All of Jude's hair which was cut off is being donated to the Little Princess Trust, who make real hair wigs for children with hair loss after having chemotherapy or from alopecia

Why town museum will never have a Moore manuscript

BY STEVE SCOLES
steve.scoles@hpnorthants.co.uk

Northampton Museum will never have an original Alan Moore manuscript if the sale of its Egyptian Sekhemka statue goes ahead next week.

The Northampton author, behind a string of highly successful graphic novels such as Watchmen and V for Vendetta, says the plan to sell Sekhemka means he could never make a donation to the museum himself.

"How can anybody across the country thinking of making a donation to a museum make the donation in the certain knowledge that some time in the future it might be sold off?" said Alan, who in the past has given Northampton Museum a piece of art created by local illustrator and children's author Denis Watkin Pritchard (known as BB).

"When Northampton Council first got strapped for cash a year ago or whatever it was there was considerable outcry - of which I

online interview
Go to www.northampton-news-hp.co.uk was a part - for fairly obvious reasons.

"This undermines the entire principle on which most museums operate," said Alan.

"I can never make a donation to the museum again and I would have thought that anybody who would have been thinking of making a donation would be thinking twice."

A Save Sekhemka campaign has been running for over a year.

It has been calling for the statue to be put back on display in Northampton Museum and for the sale to be cancelled.

Christies are hoping to raise over £4 million from the sale which would be split between Northampton Borough Council and the Marquess of Northampton.

Alan said this effectively prevents him from donating manuscripts or any of his own work to the museum.

He said: "I would have loved to have done that but it would be stupid. It would be much better to go to a reputable institution that has collections that are not going to be violated at some point in the future."

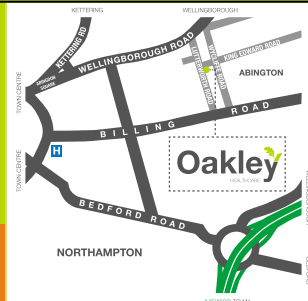

A council spokesman said it was not unheard of for museums to sell items and thanked Alan for past donations.

ACAS first step to solve dispute

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrencejohn@hpnorthants.co.uk

Roundtable talks at ACAS (Advisory, Conciliation and Arbitration Service) were held yesterday between Northampton General Hospital and the biomedical staff who are carrying out industrial action.

This is the first step to broker a deal between Trust and pathology workers since the action began last Thursday.

Staff from the pathology lab have been locked out of the hospital for nearly a week as they took action over proposed contract changes to their hours and payment rates.

The industrial action was only expected to last 24 hours on Thursday but on Friday morning when the staff tried to get into the pathology lab they found all the entrances locked.

They had to go around to the main entrance where they were met by senior management at the hospital who said unless they signed the new contracts then they could not come into work.

They were escorted off the premises by security personnel. The Unite trade union which represents the pathologists has claimed new agreements mean staff could end up working double the number of night shifts and that out-of-hours payments would be cut by up to £6,000 a year.

The talks were held to try to resolve this issue. See our website for latest updates.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

ADVERTISEMENT

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Trevor Skidmore feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Northampton, Kettering, Wellingborough & Corby areas and Trevor is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Trevor a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

They were at the circuit for the inaugural Driving Technological.

The event explores how cutting edge technology could be transferred from motorsport to automotive and beyond.

Tim Bagshaw, head of investment at Northamptonshire Enterprise Partnership, explained there were 800 high performance businesses in Northamptonshire which employed 21,000 workers and brought in around £2 billion to the local economy.

He said: "An event like this allows companies to talk to each other in a series of seminars on key issues in technology. We had 320 people signed up for this event and a large percentage came along.

"This type of event re-asserts and re-confirms why Northamptonshire is at the cutting edge of automotive technology and why its centre is here in the county."

The ONLY bangers at British Grand Prix ...

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

The famous Silverstone track welcomes its 50th British Grand Prix this weekend.

While everything at the circuit will be geared up for success, outside in the village the Grand Prix atmosphere is beginning to build.

This is clear at Kings Butchers in Brackley Road, Silverstone.

The butchers is run by Ellen Robinson, 57, who took over running the shop two years ago.

In this family run business she has been joined by her son Will, 32.

Will, who has been in the 'trade' for 10 months, is a qualified chef but wanted a change of job and scenery.

He said: "We have been making extra stock such as burgers and sausages.

"We make all of our own sausages including one called the Silverstone Sausage."

This recipe is so secret only Ellen, who has been in the butcher trade 34 years, knows how to make them.

Will says sometimes the Grand Prix can make a big difference to their business and it depended on the size of the crowd how many extra people can come to their shop.

He said: "So much is on site now but we cater for the three campsites around the village.

"There is a good atmosphere in the village when the Grand Prix takes place.

"We get a lot of people from around the world shopping with us and many come back year after year.

"I will be working at the butchers in the morning of the race and in a B&B cooking for the rest of the day."

Road closures announced for Grand Prix this weekend

The Highways Agency has published details of the planned road closures for the British Grand Prix at Silverstone this weekend.

The A43 will be closed to through traffic from 5am to 9pm on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 4, 5 and 6, between Towcester and Welsh Lane (B4525).

Local diversions, managed by the Highways Agency, will be in place and local residents have been sent leaflets with details of those diversions.

Superintendent Richard James, who is the event commander for Northamptonshire Police, said: "The Highways Agency plan will allow spectators to arrive and leave the Silverstone circuit with as little inconvenience to local people as possible."

'Leave your shiny phone at home' - police advise

Spectators visiting Silverstone this weekend for the Grand Prix are being advised by Northants Police to 'leave your shiny smartphone at home'.

The force has issued a long list of crime prevention advice, one of which advises people to bring their old phones instead of new ones.

A spokesperson for Northants Police said: "If you really can't live without your smartphone, tablet or laptop, then we would advise that you make sure you protect it.

"Download an anti-theft app before you set off; most are free, quick to install and will give us the best chance of finding your phone and hopefully catching the person who took it."

You can find the full list of advice on our website.

POTHOLE CHAMPION: Prime Minister David Cameron with Northampton North MP Michael Ellis

PM praises county MP for his pothole fight

Prime Minister David Cameron has praised Northampton North MP Michael Ellis for his pothole campaign. Earlier this month the government awarded £3.2m to Northamptonshire County Council to repair the potholes in the county.

This money was won with the help of Mr Ellis. In the space of a year he launched a pothole campaign as a result of his constituents telling him it was an important issue for the community.

He asked questions in the House of Commons as well as launching a petition which he handed into Parliament.

Mr Ellis also lobbied the secretary of state for transport and the Chancellor of the Exchequer to get more money for the county. In the budget in March, George Osborne mentioned Mr Ellis as being the reason he was giving more money for potholes.

Mr Ellis said: "I thought we had a very good chance of success.

"I have not stopped but will be asking for more money from the PM."

Mr Cameron said: "The county council had a very good case and Michael Ellis was pushing for it to happen."

A Noble gesture for injured teen

nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

A teenager who ended up in hospital last week when going to meet comedian Ross Noble has received a surprise visit at home from the man himself.

Last Thursday, Alex Potton, 19, had a nasty bike crash when he was on his way into Northampton to meet the comic, and was rushed to hospital with a fractured right arm and a possible fracture to his left arm.

Thinking he had lost his chance of meeting Ross, who is one of his favourite comedians, Alex left Northampton General Hospital later that day and went home.

However, 24 hours later Alex suddenly found Mr Noble peeping through his letterbox at home - after the funnyman had spotted the story on the Northants Herald & Post website and decided to pay the teenager a surprise visit.

Aspiring comedian Mr Potton said: "Me and my mum were both having dinner when we noticed Ross peeping in. It was a surreal moment!"

"Next thing, I'm standing in my hallway with arms in slings, cuts on my face whilst being in front of one of my favourite comedians and an entire camera crew who were rolling! It was an amazing experience."

The Geordie comic had been in the town last week filming for his TV show Freewheeling which sees him travelling the country to a host of requests from his 500,000 followers on Twitter.

His last day in the town was on Friday. The show will air this autumn on Dave.

999 calls to Northants Police total over 100,000

Northamptonshire Police received almost 650,000 calls from the public in the last financial year, of which 234,120 were to 101 and 100,935 to 999.

A further 312,433 calls were made to 03000 111 222 - the number for people calling from outside of Northamptonshire.

As a result of the statistics, the force is now urging people to use the 101 number when there is not an emergency.

Chief Inspector Fay Tennet, from the Force Control Room, said: "It is vital that people use the right phone number to call us, dialling 999 when it's not a life or death situation or when a crime is not in progress could mean our resources are diverted away from a genuine emergency call."

MAXIMUS CHAOS Animal agony uncle

Meet Max...

Animal friends,
Welcome to my Agony Column! I started life with rather a tough beginning and now feel equipped to help you through almost anything! Let's hear from our first reader...

Dear Uncle Max
My name is Garfield and I am a Ginger Cat. I recently met and fell in love with my Doppelganger who lives next door in a house my parents call "Mirror"? (whatever that means?) Anyway, my double and I often play "Pat a cake, Pat a cake" together and it is very off-putting when you know you are being filmed and sniggered at by the ones who are supposed to love and support you! I feel I am being subjected to bullying. What can I do?

Dear Garfield
Tell me, when you first met your mate from 'Mirror', did you notice anything unusual about him? I mean, does he copy everything you do? If so, it more than likely means you are soul mates, so who cares if your parents snigger? What business is it of theirs if you have found true love?! I wouldn't worry about it... If you want to keep this guy happy, simply ignore the humans. You know what they are like; they get bored easily. Once they realise they are not having an impact on you, they should wander off and video a dog doing something daft.

Dear Max,
My name is Jazz and I am a tired old dog who has seen it all and I just want to lie down these days. I'm miserable. My mum gives me cuddles and biscuits, but I would rather she just took this stupid cone off! I keep banging into things and there is no way I'm letting the other dogs on the street see me like this, it's demeaning! Please help!

Ugh, Jazz, you poor thing!
It sounds horrific. Tell your mother, that under no circumstances would she ever be caught dead in one of those stupid things so how can she justify making you wear one! INo! Tell her it's just not on!

A £6 million fiasco

I was in town last Saturday when the foundation hole for the new site for the Crick statue filled up with water. It seemed a little less enthralling than the Market Square Fountain, but only just!

The main reason to write is to condemn unreservedly the total waste of £6 million pounds on opening a tiny bit of Abington Street to traffic in homage to the car. The money would be much better spent elsewhere and not least of all on a much needed upgrade for Abington Street and the Town Centre generally.

I say much needed as the Conservatives seem to have completely lost the confidence of Legal and General. In what is a most difficult trading time for high street retail what L & G need, above everything else, is confidence in the support of the Council before they will commit huge sums of money in new Grosvenor Centre investment. It is clearly now time to replace the Conservatives and get the Town centre moving again!

Practically, the additional traffic crossing will be another hazard for pedestrians and the additional cars will add greatly to the pollution in the area, especially at exhaust level where our children live and breathe.

It will do nothing to encourage us out of our cars, onto our bikes by improving cycle accessibility (if anything it will be worse for cyclists) or to cut carbon emissions.

Most of the time there are many vacant spaces in the existing on street parking in town and there is no sign of any need for more. If only the Conservatives had carried out any sort of investigation before starting this idiotic project they would have seen just how nonsensical and truly and magnificently wasteful it really is.

By email,
David Garlick

Gridlock was a nightmare

Northampton town centre came to a standstill on Monday because of a traffic light failure outside the North Gate bus station.

This sparked a flurry of comments on Facebook from people who were angry about the traffic chaos.

Here are a selection of messages we have chosen from the day:

Marianne Poynter said: "Looks like the borough council got it wrong again. This is our future £7m wasted on gridlocking Northampton town centre."

Shona Barker said: "It took me an hour in a taxi from sixfields to town!!!"

Jade Wilson-Smith said: "My mum and I were on the number 5 from Duston to Standens Barn earlier this afternoon and took us 35 minutes just to get up the drapery! the whole journey took us close to 90 minutes - bloody nightmare."

STRANDED: The gridlock left some motorists stuck for nearly three hours

Town centre grinds to a halt... again

Northampton town centre came to a standstill on Saturday for the second time in three months.

The major disruption was caused by a traffic light failure next to the new North Gate bus station.

It left some motorists stranded for up to three hours along the Drapery and on surrounding roads.

Former Northampton MP, Tony Clarke, said: "Every time the town's traffic sneezes the new bus station catches pneumonia."

"The council ignored all of the concerns from local residents suggesting the new station couldn't cope was in the wrong place and would lead to traffic chaos, and now the teething problems experienced upon its opening have turned into a full blown toothache.

"Cllr Macintosh now must consider his position and take full and personal responsibility for fouling up our public transport and our air quality, it is now damaging our health and also hurting the local economy as shoppers go elsewhere to avoid the snarl ups."

High volume but no noise

H&P editor Steve Scoles is taking Derngate Gym's Body Fat Challenge

The battle of my bulge has been going on for a few weeks now and slow but steady progress is being made.

The combination of paying attention to diet and a personalised gym program is paying dividends.

There is no dramatic weight loss but this week I clocked in at 77kg and 18 per cent bodyfat.

These measurements are done every Monday and Friday and we have all become a little bit sceptical about the body fat reading.

I'm pretty pleased with 18 per cent but last week I registered as 8 per cent.

We checked it three times and looked at the chart on the wall.

Eight per cent would have been an excellent score for an 18 year old.

When the people who drew up the body-fat chart were originally working on it and they came up with the classification 'excellent' I don't think someone like me was what they had in mind.

In fact if aliens landed and demanded to see 'an excellent one', it would not be me shambling up to the flying saucer in my baggy T-shirt and retro-by-accident trainers.

Dan was my coach this week (pictured above giving me a blood pressure check - part of the ongoing monitoring involved in the body fat challenge) and he proved that physical excellence is in the eye of the beholder by giving me a taste of something he called German high volume training.

Sadly this was a lot more effort than just shouting phrases in a German accent, which is what I was hoping it would be.

It was ten pulls on a weighted pulley followed closely by ten press ups, and then repeated ten times.

You know press ups. The party exercise: the exercise we do as ad hoc proof of fitness to our mates.

Press ups is a whole different exercise when you do more than ten. I'll tell you next time...

New laws to tackle

BY LAWRENCE JOHN

lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

Northamptonshire Police has new civil powers to deal with domestic violence.

The latest weapon in the battle to reduce such crimes are Domestic Violence Protection Orders (DVPO).

They give police new powers to safeguard a victim in the immediate aftermath of a domestic violence incident.

This new legislation comes on the back of the Domestic Violence Disclosure Scheme (DVDS) which was launched three months ago.

These are designed to allow people to make inquiries about a partner if they are worried they may have been abusive in the past.

The Northants Herald & Post spoke to Detective Chief Inspector Steve Lingley, head of public protection at Northamptonshire Police, about the impact the new DVPOs could have on victims and perpetrators of domestic violence.

DCI Lingley said the new initiatives were aimed at better protection for victims of domestic abuse.

Under the DVPOs, the perpetrator can be prevented from returning to a residence or having contact with the victim for up to 28 days.

Picture posed by model

This gives the victim immediate protection following a domestic abuse incident, particularly when there is insufficient evidence to press charges.

DCI Lingley, said: "Three months ago, Northamptonshire Police launched the DVDS which allows people to make inquiries about a partner if they are worried they may have been abusive in the past.

"We are now getting, on average, two requests per week for disclosures which is on a par with other counties of a similar size.

"These new orders offer another level of protection and are designed to provide victims with immediate safeguarding after a domestic abuse incident, allowing them breathing space to consider their options and seek advice and support.

"First and foremost we want to bring offenders to justice and protect the most vulnerable.

"When all other avenues have been exhausted and the case doesn't meet the threshold for criminal proceedings Northamptonshire's Police and Crime Commissioner Adam Simmonds who said: "I welcome the launch of DVPOs to our county.

"They are wholly victim-focused and along with the DVDS they demonstrate that we are making huge progress in improving the way we deal with domestic violence and protect the vulnerable."

Thousands raised at the Golden Ball

BY STEVE SCOLES

steve.scoles@hpnorthants.co.uk

Thousands of pounds was raised for the air ambulance and other charities at the Golden Ball on Saturday night.

The glittering event, held at Sywell Aerodrome's Hangar One venue, featured an auction, casino tables and music from the band Superfly.

The lots up for grabs at the auction included a signed Saints shirt, use of a Raybell skip and a VIP pass for the Grand Prix at Silverstone.

The Thomas Fund and Facefax also benefitted from money raised at the event, thought to be in excess of £18,000.

The Rotary Dragon Boat Festival in Northampton is the next major event for air ambulance fund raising with more teams than ever taking part this year.

It takes place at Midsummer Meadow on Sunday, July 13.

Entry is free although parking costs £2 with a programme included. For more info about The Air Ambulance Service, visit www.theairambulanceservice.org.uk

ALL SMILES: The town centre tidy was a big success

Tidy team clear up town's 'grot spots'

There were cheers all round after a team of volunteers tidied up the town centre. Yesterday's cleaning effort was organised by Northampton Town Centre Business Improvement District (BID).

McDonald's and Lush were two of the businesses which signed up to help.

It is hoped the clean-up will help the town 'sparkle' in time for the East Midlands and Northampton in Bloom judges visiting later this month.

Black taxi ranks may be expanded

BY CALI SULLIVAN
news@hpnorthants.co.uk

It could be easier to get a black cab in Northampton if plans for more Hackney stands go ahead.

A proposal under consultation until July 24 could see a further 21 spaces for the cabs across the town centre.

Two locations in Bridge Street, Lady's Lane and an extension to the current rank on Mercers Row would be open between the hours of 11pm and 5am. Councillor Mike Hallam, Northampton Borough Council's cabinet member for environment said: "We have a lively night-time economy with an excellent theatre, many fine restaurants as well as a mix of bars, clubs and other entertainment. We are asking if people would like to see more taxi ranks created to help them get home at the end of their night."

Mark Vernon, 47, has been a black cab driver for 22 years.

He said: "There were only 60 cabs when I started but after we were deregulated anyone could become a taxi driver so now there are about 160 but there is not enough rank space for the amount of cars."

"The last few cabs are regularly asked to move on because there is not enough space. The best place is going to be in Bridge Street because that is the busiest place."

Welcome. . .

What's the first thing you should do when you want to move? Sit down.

It sounds like I'm talking in riddles but it's really very simple. Sit down with your Herald and Post property supplement and see what's out there.

You'll do a lot of research whether you are buying or selling so make sure you start with the newspaper with the biggest circulation in the county. And in these pages you'll find not just an amazing array of expertise in the businesses that advertise here but some of the nicest people you could hope to meet along the way. Why shouldn't they be? A new home is a big dream for some, a smaller dream for others but when the keys are handed over its always a dream come true. Good luck with your search, you're starting in the right place...

Warm regards,
Alan Doyle

WHAT'S ON ROUND-UP

Win tickets for a slice of rock 'n' roll heaven

BY LAWRENCE JOHN

lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

The Northants Herald & Post has teamed up with Royal & Derngate to offer two pairs of tickets for Rock 'n' Roll Paradise.

The show is a concert from the golden era of rock 'n' roll and recreates the performances of six legendary acts in a dream production that would have been too good to be true.

The incredibly talented cast bring to life the spirit of the rock 'n' roll era.

Peter Gill brilliantly captures the energy of Jerry Lee Lewis with hits such as Great Balls Of Fire, while Lars Young sends shivers down the spine with his renditions of Roy Orbison. Gavin Stanley recreates the hits of Eddie Cochran, and Spencer Jordan dons the infamous glasses of Buddy Holly.

The second half opens with a concert within a concert, recreating Elvis's spectacular later tours, complete with Vegas jump-suits, belts and rings. In the role of The King, Richard Atkins' attention to detail is legendary.

To win tickets for the show follow us on Twitter @Northamptonuk and watch out for the question being tweeted on Friday. All correct entrants will go into a hat and two winners will be drawn at random.

Rock 'n' Roll Paradise takes to the Derngate stage on July 11 at 7.30pm, with a two hour feel-good celebration, packed with more than 40 great songs.

Tickets cost £19 and £23 and can be booked by calling 01604 624811 or visiting www.royalandderngate.co.uk

WHAT'S ON ROUND-UP

We have lift-off as we blast off to The Moons

BY LAWRENCE JOHN

lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

A strong melodic sound with a beat is the major hook which will draw you into the music of Northampton band The Moons.

Formed in 2010, The Moons was the idea of singer/guitarist/songwriter, Andy Crofts. The band has already released two critically acclaimed albums to date, Life On Earth (2010) and Fables of History (2012) - produced by The Moons and Stan Kybert.

And on July 21 the group, which also includes Ben Gordelier (drums), Ben Curtis (bass) and Chris Watson (guitar) will release their latest album Mindwaves on Schnitzel Records. Speaking about his musical up bringing, Andy said: "I am a Northampton lad and have been here all my life.

"I have always been a songwriter and it is something I do not want to stop doing.

"Music is something I have been doing all my life.

"I have no grades or examinations when it comes to music and I cannot even read it.

"By the time I was 16 years old I felt I understood music a lot better.

"I used to listen to it all the time, but I mean really listening to all the sounds and the vocals to hear what had been created and try to work out how this sound had been fashioned.

"I was, for want of a better word, obsessed with listening to music, especially Buddy Holly, The Beatles and The Beach Boys.

"What I can do is I can see the music in terms of colours.

"By this I mean I can see the colour as it relates to the music.

"It gives me a feeling of the music so black would be sad or yellow would be sunny."

Andy explained The Moons' musical style had two sides.

He described it as having really soft lyrics with a strong beat and melody which offered the listener a strong juxtaposition.

The Moons will be at The Roadmender in Northampton on September 27. For more, visit theroadmender.com.

Going Greek

BY LAWRENCE JOHN

lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

Royal & Derngate's community group The Actors Company present their contemporary staging of Sophocles which is a modern re-imagining of the ancient Greek play Antigone.

It will take to the Royal stage from Friday, July 8 to Saturday, July.

The set will depict a state ravaged by war which is reborn under the tyrannical rule of King Creon.

Tickets for the show are £9.

To book, call the box office on 01604 624811 or visit www.royal-and-derngate.co.uk

Two-day food and drink festival kicks-off

Today sees the start of a two-day celebration of the independent food and drink retailers and producers across the county. At the heart of the event will be a food fayre in the courtyard of The Guildhall from 11am to 4pm today and tomorrow. There will be cookery demonstrations, talks and tastings, as well as delicious food and drink to discover and buy from some of the best artisan food producers and manufacturers from across the county.

SATURDAY

Royal British Legion quiz night

The night, which is in aid of the RBL in association with Northampton Past, will take place at the Ex-Servicemen's Club on Sheep Street at 8pm tonight. It costs £2 per head and there is a maximum of 10 people per team.

Family fun day to mark anniversary of The Battle of Northampton

Delapre Abbey is playing host to this packed event today from 11am-4pm. It will feature a living history encampment, displays and exhibitions about the battle plus miniature wargames demonstrations. There will also be children's activities including craft projects, trails, face painting and the chance to train as a knight.

SUNDAY

British Grand Prix race day at Silverstone

Watch the live coverage on BBC2 from noon.

Avenue Music launch

There was a stage, security guards, great music, free merchandise but not much of an audience. While Avenue Music's recent launch party showed off a motley assortment of their best artists, their audience remained small throughout the day. With music spanning a wide variety of genres and ages, all performed by the University of Northampton's new record label, the concert couldn't have been one amazing day if only it had been better publicised.

First lesson learnt from the day: you'd be amazed at just how many songs can be played with four chords. George Clarke got more than a few laughs when he merged Gaga, Journey, Elton King, John Denver and Jason Derulo all into a six minute track.

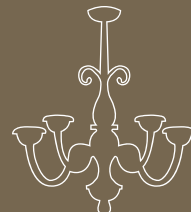

Yoshe pulled off a set list of mainly original works, including Firing Flares and Foolish Desires, Seizing her chance for one free advert, Yoshe announced her next big thing: hitch-hiking across the UK for her next music video.

All of the acts performed well but the concert was let down by the poor turnout.

Test drive

- £25,495-£35,695
- Emissions: 139-154g/km
- 48.7mpg [combined]
- 2.0 turbo diesel 170bhp
- Seven airbags and ABS

The Cherokee hauls itself into the here and now with a radical change of focus. Slicker, prettier and with a new-found commitment to interior quality and drivetrain efficiency, welcome to the brave new world of Jeep.

Jeep's task in creating this modern generation Cherokee was clear. They needed to correct the three biggest failings of the old model, namely its old fashioned styling, utilitarian interior and crude diesel engine. And do all of that while hopefully keeping the no-nonsense ruggedness and off-road ability that has always been a part of this car's appeal.

Serious off roaders might doubt this latest car is as tough as the previous generation version, but it'll get close enough to satisfy most likely buyers though, while bringing a sense of refinement to the whole experience that previous buyers of this car could only dream about.

Work gets underway at Gardens

SAINTS

Northampton Saints have started a series of enabling works at Franklin's Gardens to ensure that next year's re-development of the new Barwell Stand goes ahead as smoothly as possible.

Although the builders themselves will not move onto the site for another 12 months, Franklin's Gardens has been home to several contractors over the past few days.

The Barwell Stand is the most complicated project that the Saints will have undertaken in the overall development of the ground.

Two trees have been replaced and soil samples have been taken from the northern end of the stadium site to reduce any element of potential surprise when the foundations are dug next summer.

Saints chairman Tony Hewitt says that it is vital to ensure that the development process is approached methodically, both to keep the building work on time next summer and to ensure that the Barwell Stand is a long-term success story in the 130-year history of the Gardens.

"The Barwell Stand is an integral part of our ambitions to continue a long-term legacy that will serve Northampton Saints well in the future," he said.

"We have to get everything right first time, which means taking our time in putting the project development plans together to ensure that the build itself runs as smoothly as possible.

"The Barwell Stand is the most complicated project of the five developments that we have done over the past decade, with its own specific issues such as the electricity sub-station, access to the site and the simple fact that we are replacing a building which has itself been extended a number of times over the past 50 years.

"We are investing over £5 million into this expansion of Franklin's Gardens, and we need to ensure that it is money spent wisely to underpin our core values of sustainability and success."

The stand will increase the capacity of Franklin's Gardens up to 15,500 and will include just under 2,000 general admission seats as well as a new hospitality suite and executive boxes, as well as new stadium management facilities and a large ground floor public bar.

Planning permission and funding is all in place.

The club will go out to tender this August, with the main contractor expected to be appointed in December ahead of the May 2015 build.

Northants halt dismal run but lose pair to injuries

CRICKET

BY DAN PALMER

sport@snmedia.co.uk

Northamptonshire have lost another two players to injury but they did at least stop a run of seven County Championship defeats with a draw against Middlesex at Lord's.

David Sales and Rob Keogh have both been struck down with knocks – the former in the abandoned T20 blast match against Durham Jets and the latter in the Division One four day clash with Middlesex, which ended yesterday.

Sales slipped on a greasy surface and suffered an ankle injury while Keogh suffered a finger dislocation dropping a catch from Dawid Malan at the home of cricket.

The absence of the batting pair will be a blow to head coach David Ripley who has had injuries concerns throughout the season, most notably the absence of Alex Wakely for the entire campaign due to a ruptured achilles tendon.

"David's injury has been scanned and is a grade three tear of his ankle ligaments so that's a good length of time on the sidelines," said Ripley.

"We really can't be sure when he will be fit again but it will be a while.

"Rob had a catch burst through his hands and he dislocated a finger, which has shown to be broken.

"At this stage it doesn't look like an operation will be needed but it'll probably be at least four weeks before we can consider him again."

Against Middlesex, Ripley's men ended a dismal run of seven defeats in a row in Division One by registering a draw.

Five of those reverses were by an innings margin and despite the draw Northants – who avoided defeat for the first time since drawing the opening fixture at home to Durham – are still searching for their first victory in four day cricket this season.

After fielding first, Northamptonshire looked to be immediately up against it as Middlesex joined other opposition in posting a big score against Ripley's men – 488-9 declared.

Malan was the star of the show as he finished unbeaten on 154, while Australian test batsman Chris Rogers also contributed with 86 from opener.

The pick of the Northamptonshire attack was Matt Spriegel's 3-26 from his short five over spell while there were two wickets apiece for Azharullah and Steven Crook.

In reply, Northants slid to 168-6 at one stage but a marvellous century from Crook dragged his team out of trouble and saw the county pass the follow on total.

He scored a career best of 131 – his first century in first class cricket – from number eight as he shared a 144 run stand with South African Andrew Hall who made 75 before he was bowled by Steven Finn.

There was also a strong contribution of 73 from James Kettleborough as Northants were eventually dismissed for 384, 104 runs behind their hosts.

Middlesex rattled off a quick 199-5 declared from 49 overs in their second innings as they tried to force the game – with England star Eoin Morgan finishing unbeaten on 81.

There was not enough time for them to seal a positive result yesterday though with Northants reaching 82-3 before the teams shook hands.

The county took ten points for the draw but still remain bottom of the table, ahead of a T20 double header tonight and tomorrow against Warwickshire and Leicestershire.

They return to four day action on Sunday at Sussex.

Duck hopes she hasn't peaked too soon

ATHLETICS

BY JONATHAN GREEN

sport@snmedia.co.uk

Northampton sprinter Joey Duck fears she is going to peak too late in the season after she recorded a season's best in the 200m at the Sainsbury's British Championships on Sunday.

The 25-year-old, who has overcome a serious back injury where a disc was pressing against her nerves, clocked a time of 23.70 seconds to finish third in her heat and progress to the final.

The final took place in pouring rain and she set a new season's best of 23.48 to finish fifth as Jodie

Williams stormed to gold ahead of Bianca Williams and Anyika Onour.

But despite her new time, Milton Keynes Athletic Club member Duck admitted she left Birmingham's Alexander Stadium with a tinge of disappointment.

"It was a fast race and a season's best but I wanted a PB," said Duck, who hopes to compete throughout the Summer Series.

"I am disappointed but I suppose I can't really ask for much more.

"I think I'm going to be right at my peak just a little bit too late in the season.

"The conditions weren't nice but we are used to running in rain in this country.

"I did all I could but I think it will come together by the end of the season just a little bit too late.

"That's the frustrating thing. "I can see a personal best is on the horizon but I'm just getting there a bit too slowly this year."

Duck's personal best remains the 23.46 she set back in the summer of 2008 but she feels her performance shows she is on the verge of breaking it.

And with her life settled again after the injury, she believes it is only a matter of time until she is back at her best having also failed to reach the 100m final in Birmingham, following a sixth placed finish in the semi-finals with a time of 11.90s. That was not enough to ensure continued progression in the shortest event on the track and was slower than her heat time of 11.81s.

"I see this year as a bit of a comeback year," Duck added.

"I was out for 2012 and it took a while to get back into things with a change of coach and a change of lifestyle. I want more but I know it's there. I've just got to put it into a race."

John-Joe adds quality and is a proven goal threat

COBBLERS

BY DAN PALMER
sport@lsnmedia.co.uk

Chris Wilder believes new addition John-Joe O'Toole will add 'quality' to his Northampton Town side after fending off interest from a number of clubs to land the highly rated midfielder.

The 25-year-old has penned a three year deal at Sixfields after activating a release clause to depart Bristol Rovers following their relegation into the Conference.

Despite Rovers' dismal season he was named in the League Two team of the year after 15 goals in 46 appearances so signing him can be seen as a coup for Wilder and the Cobblers.

"I am really pleased to welcome John-Joe to the club," said Wilder.

"We have had to work really hard to get this deal done so a lot of credit must go to the chairman on this.

"We know he turned down three clubs in League One and others in League Two to come here and it is great that he wants to be part of what we are building.

"He can see the ambition of the club with all of the changes being made to the stadium and the infrastructure, the way we finished last season and the signings we have made this summer and that is a big attraction to players who want to be successful.

"He is a quality player, he offers a big goal threat as his total last season proves and we are really looking forward to working with him."

Cobblers may have had to splash out for O'Toole after Southend United manager Phil Brown revealed that he was out of his club's price range.

Meanwhile, Wilder was also pleased to welcome back left-back Evan Horwood who has joined permanently after leaving Tranmere Rovers, the club he spent a loan spell at Sixfields from towards the back end of last season.

His contract with the Wirral club was cancelled by mutual consent on Tuesday to pave the way for his return to Sixfields.

"Evan did really well for us in the last six weeks of last season and we are pleased to have secured his signing," said Wilder.

"He did well as part of a solid defensive unit and we also saw the threat he can pose going forward.

"He enjoyed his time here and I think it is a good move all round.

"He is another important part of the squad who we are pleased to have signed."

Horwood's arrival was followed shortly afterwards by the season long loan signing of Swansea City right-back Daniel Alfei, who spent time on loan in League Two last season with Portsmouth.

"We wanted to bring two attacking full-backs in," said Wilder.

"Both of those boys get forward and are good technically and want to join in and start attacks for us, so we've got the options if we go with two attacking full-backs, we've got the options if we want to be a little bit more solid.

"As always we need the flexibility but first and foremost we needed to tick the box of getting two full-backs."

The socks have taken on a stripy pattern.

Replicas of both strips will be available to buy in the club shop. Adult shirts retail at £39.99 with a 10 per cent discount for season ticket holders and a 5 per cent discount for members.

The junior shirts cost £29.99 with a 10 per cent discount for season ticket holders and a 5 per cent discount for members.

Comment: This has been the World Cup of World Cups

FOOTBALL

Columnist and Northampton Town fan Tom Reed looks back on the round of 16 matches from what has been a superb World Cup finals in Brazil.

BY TOM REED
sport@lsnmedia.co.uk

It really is the World Cup of World Cups, where swift football shines amidst organised chaos and the sour taste left by a Suarez bite is sweetened by a succession of spectacular goals.

James Rodriguez's for Colombia against Uruguay was the finest, his chest control and left-footed volley taking the strike into the superlative and what people are descending on Brazil to watch.

With a short break until Friday we can look back at the Round of 16 matches that saw the leading contenders for the trophy emerge from the pack.

In many ways the second round was characterised by the losing teams: Chile's guile, Algeria's relentlessness and of course USA's unbounded enthusiasm coupled with shrewd technique.

All reflected adversely on England with Roy

Hodgson's team inferior in both will to win and their relationship with the ball.

Across Brazil, it's recognised that the host side is not a vintage one with target-man Fred struggling to contribute world-class hold-up play and David Luiz and Dani Alves suspect to defensive slips.

But, in Neymar, they have a top-level game changer and a player who will squeeze every last drop of support from the fans.

Big Phil's side rode their luck against a skilled Chile and might have lost if it was Alexis Sanchez sending the ball goalwards in the final minute of extra time rather than Mauricio Pinella, who struck the cross-bar.

Yet, Brazil suggest a side destined for the final despite themselves and there are few opponents with so much resting on going all the way.

Of course they face Colombia in Fortaleza on Friday with "los cafeteros" appearing the most complete side of the tournament so far.

José Pekerman has galvanised a squad hit by injuries to the likes of Radamel Falcao into passionate play-makers, operating without trepidation.

It says a lot about the Premier League (or perhaps West Ham) that the effervescent Pablo Armero showed little in his five game spell at Upton Park but, like the rest of his team-mates, he has eaten up the Brazilian turf.

James Rodriguez has taken all the plaudits and rightly so but keep an eye out for Fiorentina winger Juan Cuadrado who will cause Brazil no end of problems in the appetising clash.

From a European angle, Friday's other quarter-final between France and Germany is interesting with both sides going through periods of consolidation, France after various mutinies and Germany with their new generation lacking a stand-out striker.

Certainly, Joachim Löw is struggling for a Klinsmann, Völler or even a Mario Gomez whereas France, in Karim Benzema have a fleet-footed forward who can finish off matches.

Both teams came through the second round after grinding out victories: France eventually saw off Nigeria thanks to two late goals whilst Germany played rope-a-dope against Algerian counter-attackers par-excellence.

You get the feeling that it may be cunning bit-part players who will be most important in the dying minutes in the Maracana: the intelligent Antoine Griezmann for France or the astute German dribbler André Schürrle.

Of Saturday's Quarter-Finals, Argentina versus Belgium looks to be a midfield scrap with personal battles in a Brasilia royal rumble: Witzel and Fellaini, Mascherano and Gago, with Messi and Hazard lurking to mug whoever falls first. Meanwhile, over in Bahia, North-East Brazil, the match between Holland and Costa Rica has become something of an afterthought, yet both sides will be hatching plans to take the title from under the radar.

Louis Van Gaal's side have been criticised for deviating from the "total football" of years gone by but there is no doubt that through tapping into the counter attacking zeitgeist, Holland, in Sneijder, Robben and Van Persie, have a trio that could snatch an oranje victory.

That said, Costa Rica are nobody's fools and may well continue the trend of teams being more than the sum of their parts.

Certainly if the underdogs can improve their composure in the final third on the break, then there could be more twists and turns to come on the road to the final in Rio on July 13th.

My players of the tournament so far:

1. Juan Cuadrado (Colombia)
2. Antoine Griezmann (France)
3. Thomas Müller (Germany)
4. James Rodriguez (Colombia)
5. Arjen Robben (Holland)

Three sign up

• Cobblers secure services of O'Toole, Horwood and Alfei as squad for 2014/15 takes shape

BY DAN PALMER

dan.palmer@snmedia.co.uk

Cobblers boss Chris Wilder has swooped to make three new signings as his squad for the new season begins to take shape.

Midfielder John-Joe O'Toole and defensive duo Evan Horwood and Daniel Alfei are the new recruits as Northampton look for better things in 2014/15 following a dramatic escape from relegation to non-league football on the final day of the last campaign.

O'Toole arrives following his release from Bristol Rovers who were relegated to the Conference as Wilder steered his charges to safety.

Left back Evan Horwood has also arrived on a permanent basis after making a loan switch from Tranmere Rovers at the back end of last season.

His contract at the Wirral club was terminated on Tuesday allowing him to complete his Sixfields switch yesterday, and he was joined later in the morning by fellow defender Alfei who has agreed a season long loan from Premier League Swansea City.

The right back previously spent time on loan at Portsmouth and has played under Liverpool manager Brendan Rodgers.
